

Wikipedia* currently lists a handful, but all are deletions of useful material that limit damaging attacks, not examples of additional information that enable progress or program for more complexity. The sad reality is that we each rapidly accumulate deleterious mutations, and our race's genetic heritage is heading in a rapidly degenerating decline, not evolving new information.

Even in the highly unlikely event just one of the many needed beneficial mutations occurred, it's also more likely that it would die out, rather than be incorporated into the general population.+

So why haven't BBC, the Natural History Museum, or other luminaries addressed these glaring problems?

The only realistic alternative is a work of supernatural Design. Our society has so deeply bought in to materialistic explanations of the Universe, that it has become our new pop-religion, and with what fruit? The 'patriarch' Darwin even appears on our bank notes. Yet the Scriptures are crystal clear about the real motivations behind rejecting God and His master designing skill, 'Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts...For this they willingly are ignorant of, that by the word of God the heavens were of old.' (2 Peter 3.3-5a)

It is a culpable, deliberate ignorance, and it is also God's judicial act of giving us over to our own folly, 'they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved... for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie.' (2 Thes. 2.11)

Don't idolise Mother Nature, seek her real Architect and the Framer of your being. Don't let this foolish and selfish generation monkey you about. Come and discover the wonderful reality of God's wisdom, His creating and renovating power in the heart. Come and learn about God's glorious purpose for us in His Son, God's Word made flesh, the Lord Jesus, the Messiah.

Has Satan made a monkey out of you?

No field of science is as riven by hoaxes and frauds as evolution, and human evolution in particular.*

Archaeopteryx in the National Geographic, 1999.

Past pseudo-scientific ideas like psychoanalysis and cold fusion have for a while gained considerable public traction – before being debunked as valueless, self-serving myths.

Recent discoveries unmask just how contrived the billions of years ‘molecules to man’ evolutionary fairy tale called ‘neo-Darwinism’ actually is, and how it has been a real hindrance not a help to empirical scientific progress.

Dinosaur blood cells and stified data

It astonished researchers to find that dinosaur fossil bones yield red cells, soft tissues, unfossilised bone and even proteins and short segments of double stranded DNA. All of these should have completely perished if these structures were truly millions of years old. Yet the discovery has been confirmed time after time.*

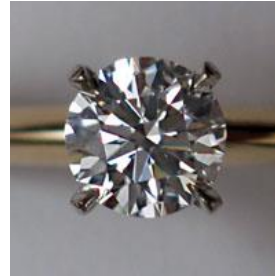

Red Cells, soft tissue and bone cell images published in 'Science' et alia from dinosaurs supposedly 65-68 million years ago.

Radio-carbon (C^{14}) which disappears completely after a few thousands of years, has also been discovered repeatedly in fossils, in which scrupulous care had been taken to prevent contamination. Yet how did the scientific congress at which the findings were reported react? It censored the abstract and removed it from the program!* So much for seeking after the truth!

Similarly C^{14} has been found repeatedly in diamonds – showing that the oldest are scores of thousands of years old – no more.†

Impossible Chicken and Egg

Students of evolution have long been aware of the hopelessly speculative nature of the origin of the first cell. Not least is the problem of how DNA evolved without proteins to hold, repair, decode and edit it, and where proteins evolved from without DNA to provide code for them.

Recent discoveries have only increased this chicken/egg problem considerably.§

Nasty surprises for evolution from the Human Genome Project

One of the great shocks of mapping the whole human genome was the small number of genes. Only 26,000, as compared to the well over 100,000 expected! The resulting discoveries have almost made the term ‘gene’ in its old sense redundant, and transformed our understanding of the human genome from a static map to a highly complex RNA processing computer, capable of reading, splicing and regulating up to 6 different messages from a single section of DNA. So much for junk DNA evolutionists have touted for so long!*

When Bill Gates wrote in 1995, ‘DNA is like a computer program but far, far more advanced than any software ever created,’ neither he nor anyone at the time could have realised just how prescient his words were. The RNA-protein supercomputer of the genome is more like a highly concise military program with targeted functions, than Linux or Windows,† but such systems have far less tolerance for errors, the very errors which evolution requires for its progress.

No-good mutations

Natural selection requires good mutations to work on. It’s a struggle to find one of these extremely rare events. Try upgrading your car’s performance by crashing it!
